GRAMMAR

Possessive pronouns are pronouns that are used to indicate the ownership (possession) of something or someone by something or someone else. The English possessive pronouns are mine, ours, yours, his, hers, theirs, and whose. For example; those books are mine.

Possessive determiners, sometimes called possessive adjectives, are used differently since they appear before a noun instead of replacing it. The possessive determiners are my, our, your, his, her, its, their, and whose. For example; those are my books.

* 'His' and 'whose' can therefore be both a possessive pronoun and a possessive determiner. This means that they are easy to use in conversation, but make sure you're aware whether it's a pronoun or a determiner.
